About Judi

Judi Cleveland is a singer-songwriter, writer and artist originally from Liverpool. Discouraged from music as a child, Judi admits her musical journey has been challenging, but that has made her career all the more rewarding. Learning to play guitar and performing her own songs have taught her many lessons beyond the notes. Judi created a substitute music program that she implemented in Lunenburg County schools and won the song writing and playwriting categories in the South Shore Festival of the Arts Competition in 1995. She played and wrote with Shelburne musician Robbie Smith in the duo "Songcrafters". Judi has performed many times at Harmony Bazaar and other venues. She is often accompanied by local keyboardist Donnie Crosby.

Judi has released two albums "Broadside Ballads" and "By the River Broad" and is working on her third. She also writes poetry and stories and sketches in ink. She has sold prints at local gift shops and at musical events. For Judi, dabbling in the arts has been a life-long adventure through which she finds peace and pleasure as she follows her muse.
