About Rebecca

Little Harbour native, Rebecca Tudor has been involved in pottery making since 1979. Her training initially was in the area of production pottery, but as she experimented more with forms and surface design, she found her interests evolving into an area somewhat removed from function.

She established Tudor Tile Studio in 1990 and makes custom designed ceramic tiles for public and private spaces. Her tiles have been commissioned by clients throughout Canada, the US, and Europe, as well as Japan and Russia.
